Murumuru Scrub

Brazilian Biodiversity

Working with our Brazilian partner and their organised fruit collection community of 960 people from 240 families located in the Brazilian Amazon Pará state, we are able to offer Murumuru Scrub. The Murumuru palm is endemic to the Brazilian Amazon region and primarily found in areas that are periodically flooded. The stem, leaves and fruit stalks are covered with hard, black spines that can reach over 20cm in length, the contained seed after butter production being the starting point for the scrub.

Properties, benefits and uses of Murumuru Scrub:

A natural exfoliant offering a gentle exfoliation and retaining all emollient properties of the original butter. Floviva Murumuru Scrub represents a natural and sustainable alternative to the use of exfoliating synthetic polymers. The product has natural colouration without the addition of synthetic additives and brings all the benefits of the fruit to the exfoliation in the final formulation. It is rich in lauric and myristic fatty acids, in addition to vitamin E constituent tocopherols.

Uses of Murumuru Scrub:

It can be used in gels for face and body, as well as liquid soaps, creams and bath lotions.

Usage levels:

Liquid and bar soaps: 0.1 to 1.5%
Creams and lotions: 0.1 to 1%
Gels: 0.1 to 1%

How we make our Murumuru Scrub

Between January and April and June and October, the mature fruits fall from the tree and are collected by the community. The contained seeds are cleaned and polished followed by cold mechanical pressing to produce Murumuru Butter. A by-product of the butter production is a concentrated kernel “cake” which is micronised to produce our Murumuru Scrub, a quality of which ProTec Botanica are very proud of in bringing to the market.
